As with any kind of field (electric, magnetic, gravitational), the total quantity, or effect, of the field is referred to as a flux, while the "push" causing the flux to form in space is called a force. Michael Faraday coined the term "tube" to refer to a string of magnetic flux in space (the term "line" is more commonly used now).

Ultrafiltration (UF) is a variety of membrane filtration in which forces like pressure or concentration gradients lead to a separation through a semipermeable membrane. Suspended solids and solutes of high molecular weight are retained in the so-called retentate, while water and low molecular weight solutes pass through the membrane in the permeate (filtrate).

Logframes are notoriously confusing and difficult to put together. This is because creating a good logframe requires both a holistic and detailed understanding of the project. This level of understanding is rarely complete during the planning and funding stage, when the project design is still in flux.

What is a Logframe (Logical Framework Analysis)?
