Fact: Ski boots are your most important piece of ski equipment. No other gear item—not even skis—makes or breaks your ability to ski well like ski boots. Sure, your skis make direct contact with the snow and guide your turns, but it's your feet and ski boots that guide those skis. Ergo, good turns come down to your ski boots.

I've just read through your Simple Telemark Binding Guide and am still not sure what I should get. I'm 53 years old and have been telemarking for over 25 years and have a duck-billed boot (Scarpa T2 Echo) and older G3 binding. I ski at least once a week in the backcountry and would like to switch to a releasable binding for safety reasons.
